Welsh Sports Association launches Welsh Language website

The Welsh Sports Association (WSA) has launched the Welsh language version of its website www.chwaraeoncymru.org.uk. The website holds details of the Welsh Sports Association activities, and developments in the sporting world which are relevant to the National Governing Bodies of Sport in Wales.

The website conforms to the requirements usually reserved for statutory bodies in Wales who are legally obliged to provide a fully bilingual service. The site represents a complete commitment to the development of sport through the medium of Welsh by the Welsh Sports Association and is in keeping with its programme to develop sporting opportunities through the Welsh language.

The WSA's Welsh Language Development Officer, Ceri Thomas stated:

"This is a significant step in reaching the aims and objectives of my role, and highlights the association's commitment to provide equal service for everyone in Wales to participate in sport"

Bob Turner, Chairman of the Welsh Sports Association added;

"The role of the Welsh Language Development Officer is to increase the number of coaching and participation opportunities in Welsh, by assisting the National Governing Bodies of Sport to deliver a fully bilingual service to members."
